The monotheistic religions are those which have one God at their centre. They all began in the Middle East and all share some important ideas. The earliest of them was Judaism from around 2000 BC. Then came Christianity and finally Islam as we know it today. For all of these religions, Jerusalem is a very holy place. There, for example, Muslims believe that the Prophet Mohammad (pbuh) ascended one night from the Noble Rock to Heaven. And there today stands Caliph Abdul Malik Ibn Marwan's famous mosque, completed in AD .692. It is one of the world's architectural treasures, with its golden Dome and all around it inscriptions from the Holy Quran. There are other places in Jerusalem that are just as important to the city's other religions. This is a very important destination for huge numbers of pilgrims who visit every year.

3- Reading: Read the following text then answer the question below:

Your body is like a car. Cars need fuel – and we need food. Your body uses most of yesterday's supply by morning and then it needs more. People who forget this and miss breakfast may suffer headaches, and they will certainly be low on energy. On the other hand, scientists say, people who eat a proper breakfast learn better, behave better and are generally healthier.

Moreover, people who miss breakfast are especially likely to make up for it later with large portions of things that contain lots of unhealthy fat and calories – a burger perhaps or a pie and some fries. Not surprisingly, 17% of American teenagers are now very overweight. Dangerous 'killer' conditions often follow in later life – heart disease, for example.

The answer is to eat a healthy breakfast and a balanced daily diet that gives our bodies the nutrients that they need. And of course to get more exercise.

A - Answer the following questions:

5- How is your body like a car ?

Too many American teens do not eat when they should. Take Carrie Choi. Carrie is 15 and she has not eaten breakfast since she was in third grade. 'I don't have time,' she says 'I have to be on the school bus at 7:15 am'. Anyway,' she adds, 'I'm really not hungry at that time of day.'

More and more young Americans talk like Carrie. They are the 20% of US teenagers who do not eat breakfast. They are creating real problems for themselves – and perhaps even killing themselves.

Age
Problem

Percentage of teens like Carrie

B) Read the following paragraph then complete the tables below:

The Food Pyramid here shows everything that your body requires. It consists of six food groups and these provide all the 50 basic nutrients that are necessary for good health. It is also properly balanced: we need less of the group at the top, more of the ones in the middle and even more of those at the bottom.

When the Food Pyramid gives a number of portions, this is the daily quantity necessary for health. A portion here means, for example, one egg, 30 grams of meat or a vegetable like spinach or a bowl of rice or yogurt. And , for example, the average person needs three portions of fruit per day.

Read the following extract then answer the questions below: ( 10 marks)

Your body is like a car. Cars need fuel – and we need food. Your body uses most of yesterday's supply by morning and then it needs more. People who forget this and miss breakfast may suffer headaches, and they will certainly be low on energy. On the other hand, scientists say, people who eat a proper breakfast learn better behave better and are generally healthier.

Moreover, people who miss breakfast are especially likely to make up for it later with large portions of things that contain lots of unhealthy fat and calories – a burger perhaps or a pie and some fries. Not surprisingly, 17% of American teenagers are now very overweight. Dangerous 'killer' conditions often follow in later life – heart disease, for example.

The answer is to eat a healthy breakfast and a balanced daily diet that gives our bodies the nutrients that they need. And of course to get more exercise.

Read the following extract then answer the questions below: ( 10 marks)

So you're in Grade 10, a year of hard work and important choices. Should you take the academic route? Or should you follow the vocational route to become a carpenter or a nurse perhaps?

If you lived in Germany or France, things would be organized differently. There, you would continue with most of your subjects until you graduated.

However, the Palestinian system offers choices, and these must match your interests and abilities. If you choose the right group of subjects, they'll carry you towards the right career. Choose badly, and you'll become bored and do badly.

With careful thinking, that shouldn't happen. If it did, you might leave school with weak qualifications and a future in a 'dead-end' job. It would be a disaster! So start thinking now.

Some people may say you should become a doctor or an engineer because they are 'good' jobs. Don't listen. A job will only be good if it is right for you! And remember this: people are respected if they do their work well – whatever their jobs.

10th Grade

Final Exam Second Semester

1. Read the text then answer the questions below.

Despite all our mistakes, we humans believe we are by far the most intelligent form of life on Earth. Well, we are now in the century which will decide whether we really are intelligent. If we continue making mistakes, our future will be terrible.

But let's be positive. Although humans have never had to deal with so many problems before, we've never had so much technology to help us. And I believe that answers to our problems can and will be found. Let's look at some of them.

Let's start with war and peace. To deal with our problems together, we first have to work together.

So humans have to stop killing and oppressing other humans. We have to make peace, not war.

If the UN can be made more effective, I believe that this can be achieved. It has to be achieved.

Then what? Proper health care must be made available to all. So must a healthy diet. Scientists and farmers must work harder than ever to produce more and better food.

And all these things have to be done in the middle of two huge events – an explosion in human population growth and climate change.

The world population is likely to reach nine billion by 2050 and ten by 2100, but after that numbers are expected to decrease steadily. Therefore, during this century, there will be huge pressures on resources – food and everything else – before things get easier again in the next. Our use of all resources will have to be managed very carefully.

Climate change is our biggest problem. For many years, people have been burning fossil fuels – coal, oil and natural gas – to provide energy. That has polluted Earth's atmosphere with various gases that are now causing climate change. Temperatures are rising and a change to clean forms of energy is now urgent. Without this, many areas will get too hot and dry for food production – just when population numbers are at their greatest.

A. Answer these questions:

1. Why is it so important for human beings to start being more intelligent?
